O. Do NOT Feed the Wildlife

People naturally enjoy the good feeling they get from feeding waterfowl. They like to get close to them and feel that supplementing the natural diet of wild ducks and geese with corn, bread and other household foods helps them survive better in the wild. But there are several things we should consider concerning the welfare of animals being fed:

1. Artificial feeding and close human contact changes the natural behavior of wildlife. It alters migrating instincts and can reduce their ability to survive in the wild. Fed wildlife can get use to human presence – ultimately to their detriment from hunters, etc.

The periodic welfare given to wildlife by supplemental feeding causes a difficult adjustment. The periodic supplemental feeding is too often given when the wild ducks need it least – during the moderate weather. When it ends abruptly, they do not have access to alternate food sources.

2. Artificial bird food items such as bread can also cause dietary deficiencies when they become the primary food sources. Research has shown that trace elements available only in a balanced, natural diet of wild duck foods are essential to promote good health in wild fowl.
3. Large numbers of waterfowl are concentrated by supplemental feeding practices, the possibility of a waterfowl disease epidemic is increased. Some parasitic, bacterial, and viral diseases can be spread from ducks to people and other wildlife.

Feeding wild ducks “people food” is the equivalent of “junk food”. Wild ducks are capable of finding their own food, even in cold winter months of January and February. In periods of extremely abnormal cold, biologists and conservation officers monitor the conditions of wild ducks, and if they need supplemental feeding, they will make that publicly known and do something about it.

If you or your children enjoy feeding ducks, do it at the zoo, park, or nature center where it is approved.

Remember: FEEDING WILD DUCKS MAY MAKE YOU FEEL GOOD, BUT IT IS NOT HELPING THEM.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Mayor and Council approve the Rules and Regulations at Eastern Point Beach for the Year 2022.
